17-YEAR LOCUST TO APPEAR IN SOUTH

AUBURN, Ala.—The song of the 17-year locust will drone through wooded areas in some parts of the South this summer; however, it is believed that very few, if any, will appear in Alabama.

J. A. Hylop of the United States Department of Agriculture reports Brood IX of the insect will this year turn up in its usual range—Southern, West Virginia, Western Virginia, and extreme North Carolina. It is also expected, in small numbers, in the rest of West Virginia, eastward into Northern Virginia and Maryland.

Grubs which have been living under the ground since 1918 will crawl up onto trees this year to shed their skins and emerge as winged insects. The insects do very little damage. They make their presence known by an ear-splitting and never-ceasing uproar.

Quite a large crowd of men and boys and several ladies attended the "shooting" demonstration put on by Captain Hicks, representative of the Peters Cartridge Company, Tuesday afternoon. The demonstration was held in the pasture near the residence of Bruce Maddox in the eastern part of town. Captain Hicks used several revolvers, rifles and shot guns in demonstrating to the crowd the different kinds of ammunition made by his company, and their advantages to the sportsman. Mr. Hicks is one of the best marksmen in the country and delighted the crowd with some of his trick shots during the demonstration.

Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Mizell of Samson were visitors to Elba Tuesday.

Mrs. M. S. Carmichael, Miss Caroline Carmichael and Miss Miriam Hicks of Montgomery visited Elba Tuesday.

The many friends of Miss Mahlon Owen will regret to hear of her illness. She was carried to St. Margaret's hospital in Montgomery Tuesday.

Miss Opal Gunnels was a business visitor to Opp Tuesday.

SALES GIRLS— ZEETA IS YOUR BEST FRIEND

When you suffer from perspiring, itching, burning feet, Zeeta is your best friend. For in just 5 minutes it brings you relief—cool, soothing, healing comfort. Zeeta spritzes it in your shoes and you need not wash your feet. Zeeta, the antiseptic deodorant powder, is recommended by doctors, chemists, leading druggists everywhere.

DEBRIS HARMLESS TO PLANTS AND PERSONS

AUBURN, Ala.—Without injury to the plants and without danger to persons eating the vegetables, Alabama farmers can control chewing insects, including bean and potato beetles and cabbage worms, by using a mixture of one pound Derris and 7 pounds of sulphur.

Prof. J. M. Robinson, head of the entomology department of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute, emphasizes also that the sulphur in the mixture repels the sucking insects and controls the red spider.

We take this method of thanking the good people of Sand Hill and surrounding community for the kindness shown us during the illness and death of our darling baby, Lonnie Janette, as well as the presence known by an ear-splitting and never-ceasing uproar.

Mr. Clarence L. McCortland, the efficient court reporter for this circuit, was here this week at court.

DOCTORS WHO SCARE US

In recent years the idea that everyone should have a rapid medical examination at least once a year, whether he feels any symptoms of disease or not, has been advocated by leading insurance companies.

There is no doubt that such examinations frequently disclose important stages of diseases which may be checked or cured by early treatment.

The practice of periodical examination is attended by an element of danger, however, according to Dr. Charles Hunter of Winnsboro, who warns physicians against suggesting the presence of diseases unless they are quite certain of their diagnosis. He states that he has seen healthy people develop actual symptoms only after a medical examination in which the examiner had suggested the possibility of organic trouble, and he declares that it is high time to protest against the physicians instilling doubt and fear in a healthy person.

It would seem incredible that any reputable physician, knowing as he does the power of suggestion, should intimate that a person examined may be diseased unless he is positive that such is actually the case. But, if Dr. Hunter is correct in his statement, it appears that they sometimes do make such mistakes.

Joe Brooks and Hendrix Jeter are on a visit to their grandmother, Mrs. L. H. Jeter, in Brewton.

JANE ADDAMS

The death of Miss Jane Addams in Chicago a few days ago removes one of the most remarkable women America has produced. Her achievements as settlement worker, social and political reformer, author, lecturer and ardent peace advocate, brought her world-wide fame.

Born in Cedarville, Ill., September 6, 1869, Miss Addams had the benefit of an unusual education, supplemented by several years of foreign travel.

In 1889, with Ellen Gates Starr, she opened the Hull House settlement in Chicago, of which she has since been the head. Her interest in sociological theories caused her to devote her life to practical efforts in behalf of the poor and degraded, a work in which she achieved marked success.

She had honorary degrees from several American universities, and in 1910 she was given the first honorary degree ever bestowed by Yale on a woman. An president of the Women's International League for Peace she presided over conventions at The Hague, Zurich, Vienna, Washington, Dublin and Prague.

In 1921 she shared the Nobel Peace prize with Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, and the same year was given the Bryn Mawr achievement award of $5,000.

While by some Miss Addams was considered quite radical in her social and political views, no one ever questioned her sincerity, or the fact that she performed woman service for distressed humanity during her long life.

Miss Reba Pouncey of Florida has accepted a position at Stephens's beauty shoppe.

Elmer Brunson, who has been attending Howard College in Birmingham, is visited by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. P. Brunson, this week.

Mrs. Tom Brooms and little granddaughter of Opp were guests of Mrs. L. Gunnel on Tuesday.

Charles Rowe came down from Montgomery Sunday for a short visit to his mother, Mrs. S. N. Rowe, and family.

Messrs. J. C. Yarbrough and J. W. Hicks of Enterprise, C. W. and B. W. Simmons of Opp were among the attorneys attending court here this week.

Miss Mercer Brunson has returned to her home here after a pleasant visit to Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Grimes in Birmingham.

TURNING POINTS

Most persons of middle age and beyond may look upon apparently trivial occurrences which seem to have changed the entire course of their lives. A chance meeting, a fortuitous remark, a casual letter, or even an accident, may mark a turning point in one's course.

Such ordinarily unimportant events which turn out to be far-reaching in their consequences must often have to do with matrimony. But in business and other relations of life these minor happenings also frequently have a weighty influence.

It is related of Disraeli, the Jewish boy who became one of England's great prime ministers, that his turning point came through a fist fight at school, as a consequence of which he changed his place of residence and fell in with friends who aided him in getting started on his brilliant career.

Numberless similar instances may be found in biographies of the great and near-great, in which chance or small happenings led to fame and fortune.

Sometimes, too, they lead in the opposite direction, as in the case of Napoleon, who is said to have lost the battle of Waterloo, which changed the whole history of Europe, because it rained just before the battle, causing his cannon to be mired in the mud.

Thus, while carefully planned efforts count most, a great deal often depends on whether one gets the lucky or unlucky "breaks" in the game of life.

Misses Nell Gardner Clark, Pauline Trawick and Mary Katherine Hairs, who have been attending State Teachers College in Troy, have returned to their home in Elba.

Mrs. Byrd Mitchell, Jr., and children, Bobby and Patay, left for Andalusia Tuesday for a week's visit with relatives.

Misses Mildred Lee and Margaret Hamm, teachers in Opp City Schools, are home for the summer months.

MAN AND BOY HURT

Mr. Manning and his companion, Sam Brunson, Jr., of Enterprise, were painfully but not seriously injured Tuesday afternoon when their automobile left the highway on the hill East of the city. The cause of the accident was not learned. Both injured persons received treatment at the office of Dr. C. P. Hayes and then were carried to their homes.

Before Justice Harry Mills of Oroville, Calif., another Harry Mills swore to a warrant charging a third Harry Mills with breaking into a cabin and stealing blankets.

DR. HARMAN IS ELECTED PRESIDENT MONTEVALLO

MONTEVALLO, Ala., May 24.—Dr. A. F. Harman, former State superintendent of education, today was named president of Alabama College to succeed Dr. O. C. Carmichael.

The action was taken at the annual meeting of the board of trustees.

Dr. T. H. Napier, dean of the Alabama College faculty, and who had been prominently mentioned with Dr. Harman as a likely successor, Dr. Carmichael, was appointed dean of the college by the trustees.

Vote of the board on election of the new president was not announced.

Dr. Harman will become president of Alabama College on September 1, when Dr. Carmichael leaves the institution to become dean of the graduate school of Vanderbilt University.

All members of the board of trustees, with the exception of Representative W. B. Oliver, were present at the meeting, including Governor Graves, ex-officio chairman.

Dr. Napier had been widely endorsed by students and alumnae organizations of the college to succeed Dr. Carmichael.

Rev. and Mrs. W. J. Hughes, Mrs. J. M. Garrett, Mrs. W. R. Crook and Mr. T. H. Deal attended the Troy District Conference which was held at Hartsboro last Wednesday. They report a fine trip and a very interesting meeting. The conference was held in Elba last year, lasting two days.

Judge M. S. Carmichael of Montgomery was here the first of the week attending court.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hanks of Montgomery spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Dowling in Elba.

Mrs. Lewis Duhose and son, Gene, of Dothan were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Dowling several days this week.

MR. J. G. COON OF Kinston was a business visitor to Elba Wednesday and while here had his name added to The Clipper's list of subscribers.

Miss Frances McKinnon, who has been in school in Montreat, N. C., came to Elba this week to spend the summer vacation with her grandmother, Mrs. W. P. Boyd.
